

Canadian WQA elects 2009-2010 president

Thursday, May 28, 2009

TORONTO — Peter Bozzo of Nimbus Water Systems, Toronto, was elected president of the Canadian Water Quality Association (CWQA) at the association's Annual General Meeting 2009, held May 12-14 in Calgary, Alberta.

Phillip Adsetts of Kinetico Canada, Caledon, Ontario, was elected vice president.

Outgoing CWQA president Myron Lupal, of Viqua in Guelph, Ontario, now is a returning member of the CWQA Board.

Other returning members of the Board include Adsetts and Fernando Castello, Lifetime Water Systems, Mississauga, Ontario.

The Board welcomed new director Paul Godin, president of EcoWater Canada.

The four new directors will join the following directors who continue to serve: Claude Gauthier, Purolite of Kitchener, Ontario; Geoff Brown, Watergroup Companies of Regina, Saskatchewan; Ken Johnston, Goodwater Warehouses of Calgary; Scott Macdonald, Envirogard Products of Richmond Hill, Ontario; Lorne Jackson, Jackson Water Conditioning Ltd. of Woodville, Ontario; Robin Howlings, Danamark WaterCare of Brampton, Ontario; Andrew Homeyer, Wa-2! Water Co. Ltd. of Vancouver, British Columbia; Aaron Biffert, Ecowater Systems Calgary; and Nimbus Water Systems' Bozzo.

Bozzo said in a prepared statement, "As an industry, we face many regulatory challenges in the near future and it will require the total support of our association, its membership and the industry to ensure the future is indeed bright for us as water treatment professionals."
